DBG Launched A California Style That Still Sets The Pace

Exterior fireplaces are rapidly gaining popularity as great decorative elements and as wonderful gathering places for fun and conversation during the cool California evenings. As is often the case with new product development, Garry Lieser wanted one for himself—an outdoor fireplace, that is—and he had a huge advantage in getting it. The owner of DBG (Designs By Garry, Inc.) had been designing, manufacturing and selling cast concrete interior furniture and fireplace facades to the design trade since 1986.

He came up with the concept of building exterior fireplaces in sections, enabling just two people to install them in a short amount of time. He then built a line of modular fireplaces, moderately priced and easy to install, that could transform an outdoor setting instantly with beauty and vibrancy. These units are made from lightweight, durable exterior concrete and range in size from 44 to 96 inches in height and from 39 to 110 inches in width. Prefabricated, they simply stack and bolt together on any backyard surface.

Presently, the line has grown to include BBQ islands, firetables, and CAST (a limestone concrete product) outdoor furniture. Garry has custom designed the modular islands so that they can be individually modified to meet specific space requirements and product specifications. All products are available in the same six finish colors (Sand, Silverado, Parviz Beige, Canyon, Villa, and Tuscan Slate), so now the complete outdoor living space can house complementary components.

DBG is a family owned business serving the trade for more than two decades. Their products can be seen at www.exteriorfireplaces.com
